Summed Up.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

New York, October 9, 2:30 A. M.—The Times sums up the result of the elections as follows: In Ohio the returns thus far received show large republican gains, and render it certain that the republicans have undoubtedly elected probably twelve out of twenty congressmen. Indiana has gone democratic on the state ticket by about the same majority as in 1876. The Indiana congressional delegation will probably democratic on the state ticket by about the same majority as in 1876. The Indiana congressional delegation will probably stand six republicans and five democrats, and the district in doubt. From Iowa, the largest vote ever polled is reported and the republican majority is larger. Two democratic congressmen have been elected in West Virginia; but in the third district the contest between the democratic and greenback candidates is not decided by the present returns.

THE STATE COMMITTEE.

The state democratic executive committee, in pursuance of a call made at the request of many of leading democrats and papers throughout the state, met in the senate chamber at the capitol yesterday.

The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic. After taking such steps as were deemed necessary for the good of the cause, the committee adjourned subject to call.

The various members of the committee expressed great interest in the campaigns being waged in the contested districts, and report that the masses of the people are everywhere awakening to the necessity of organization against the selfish schemers that are trying to break down the party. The voters, they say, are fully equipped for the fight before them, and there is little doubt that each of the contested districts can be carried.

Colonel Miles G. Lewis, of Greene, was made temporary chairman of the committee in the absence of the chairman, and Colonel E. Y. Clarke acted as secretary.

To be Suppressed by Military Intervention.

Washington, October 8.—The cabinet today considered the troubles in New Mexico, the result of which was a proclamation by the president warning all persons engaged in unlawful combination in New Mexico, especially in Lincoln county, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before noon of the 13th inst. The secretary of war subsequently addressed a letter to General Sherman officially advising the latter of the president's proclamation, which the secretary says is preliminary to the employment of troops to preserve the peace and enforce the laws in case disturbances continue after the time named. The president directs that instructions be given to the proper military officer that after the time mentioned has expired he will proceed to disperse by military force such unlawful combinations. Gen. Sherman has accordingly instructed the brigadier general commanding the department of Missouri to enforce, if necessary, the conditions announced by the president.

Nashville American.

John U. Eastman, who died of yellow fever at the infirmary, at 3½ o'clock yesterday afternoon, was born in Concord, New Hampshire, where his mother is still living at the advanced age of 92 years. He was about 55 years old, came to Nashville in 1851, and ran the first locomotive on the Chattanooga railroad from Nashville to Antiloch. He was made master machinist in 1858, and was in charge of the machinery of the road throughout the war. In the years 1865-8-7 he ran an engine on the Western & Atlantic railroad, but returned to Nashville and assumed his old position in 1808, remaining master machinist of that line until 1876. In 1877 he formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. Thatcher, in the drug business, at Chattanooga, in lasting within that time the long ride from Chattanooga to Nashville. The deceased was universally esteemed, and the entire community will condole with his bereaved wife and Dr. Frank Eastman, his son, who came here last Saturday from Atlanta, and was with him until he died.

A RANK CONTAGIOUS DISCASE.

From this district the virus is spreading all over the state. It has gone into other districts, and the democratic party is menaced by the disorganizing efforts of men who sacrifice every principle dear to the people for the sake of office. To attempt to pull down the democratic party in this juncture of public affairs is to give evidence of a criminal disregard for the rights and liberties of the people. Every duty that a freeman owes to his neighbors and his country appeals to him to stand by the organization, and fight the good fight through to victory.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 9, 1878.

There are two cases in progress that no man should expect to outlive. We refer to the Fitz John Porter case, and the Dameron-Chambers suit, which was start ed up afresh last week.

THE government is becoming a hand ome contributor to the yellow fever suf ferers. It has furnished 1,726 tents, which will never be used again, and it has issued rations to the sufferers to the value of $30,000, exclusive of cost of transportation. We hope the government will not hesitate to afford any assistance that it can reasonably render. Ir nickels accumulate on your hands t send them to the Philadelphia mint or to an assistant treasurer of the United States, and get greenbacks for them. posse comitatus clause in the army appropriation bill. The order contains list of the exceptions to the clause, but in this list no mention is made of authority to carry elections or subserve partizan purposes. The army may therefore be the excitements of active politics. The democrats of the house have placed it politically on the retired list.

THE Nebraska people are both odd and persistent. They elect every two years a "contingent" congressman. The law allows them but one regular congressman, and but satisfy their vanity by electing a "contingent" member. The contingency consists in being seated by the house on the strength of an increase in population since the last federal cer sus was taken. It is an utterly improba ble contingency. If the Nebraska "con tingent" should be seated, Texas would eight or ten of them.

THE New York Graphic, an unrelenting republican paper, calls upon the republicans of the south to sustain the greenback nominees for congress. It anticipates the election of Judge Critcher in the first Virginia district, whom it hopes to see elected speaker by the combined votes of nationals and radicals. In North Carolina such a fusion has been brought about; but, says the Graphic the nationals were compelled to first pledge themselves to sustain the republi cans in securing the organization of the house if the nationals themselves cannot get it. The same conditions exist, says its Washington correspondent, in Georgia. The Graphic believes there is no other way to prevent a democratic majority in the next house of representa-

Not an Issue. It is observable that precisely the same the bogus greenbackers make against state bank currency are made by the hard-money organs against a government issue of greenbacks, and it must be admitted that if the objections are valid in one instance they are in another. The hard-money men argue that the greenbacks will not be received outside of the United States and some of the greenbackers, jealous of any other species of currency, say that state bank currency will not circulate outside the state. This is true, and this is precisely the sort of currency we need to supplement the issue of greenbacks. No contingency of financial embarrassment at the north would then affect the people of the south, and no the commercial prosperity of the people of a state. But, after all, this is a matter which we are willing to leave to the common sense of those who will be chosen to represent us. It is not an issue in the present campaign at all, and the organs that endeavor to make it so merely make themselves ridiculous. North Georgia Stock and Fair Asso their hour of need. This can be brought about, happily, without any sacrifice, as 'ply compensate for the trifling outlay of transportation. The time was when the southern clubs were pioneers in the noble sport. Later on they acquired an enviable prestige which they preserved unsullied up to the late war. Now that they are struggling to revive the glories of the past, the patronage that can be bestowed should be freely ex-'tended. It will bear it fruits."

The Negro in the South. The remarkably able editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean pretends to believe that we are somewhat exercised because the independents are endeavoring to control the negro vote. The editor of the Inter-Ocean is evidently making an effort to read between the lines; but, fortunately, we do not write in riddles. When we state that the negro is a valuable auxiliary to the south, we mean precisely what we say. His vote not only protects him, but is a weapon which we can turn upon those who have conceived it to be their duty to oppress us. We make no complaints. At this late day, with victory helping us over the rough places we can afford to be candid. We can afford to put ourselves in the place of those who have erected the machinery with which to humiliate us. The driving-wheel of that machinery was negro suffrage. Is it any wonder that, fter practically capturing it, we should hesitate to say a word or two as to its perfection and its power? The editor of the Inter-Ocean should not wilfully misunderstand us. We hold simply that the the extent of $20 or multiples thereof, leading negroes of the south have come to the conclusion that their race cannot prosper either materially or politically unless the whites prosper; and they have er must however pay the expense of learned, moreover, that the political status most beneficial to the whites of the south is precisely that which will be most ben- ous policy of the premier. ars or the subsidiary silver coins. In 1838 Lord Auckland, then viceroy of India, sent General Elphinstone at the head of 16,000 troops, and nearly as many more camp followers into Afghanistan for the purpose of dethroning the able and scarcity of federal currency would affect popular ameer, Dost Mohammed, and putting in his place the British ally, Runjeet Singh. Only one man escaped to carry the tidings of annihilation to the commandant in the Bolan pass. Other forces were sent in the following year into the country until its subjugation was considered complete; but in 1846 the Afghans formed an alliance with the Sikhs in the Punjaub, and it was only after several sanguinary engagements that Dos Under this head the Turf, Field and Mohammed was driven back over the Farm, of New York, one of the most Indus. Some would have us believe that it is simply a quarrel between the viceroy and the ameer, but there could be no greater mistake than this. It is part of the old fight for Asiatic trade and territory. And we are told that if England conquers and annexes Afghanistan and Beloochistan, Russia will seize the balance of Turkistan, which she does not control; and then the two countries will be brought face to face in Asia. The body of Asia would then be held by Russia, England and the Chinese, and there would not be much left to annex, except Persia. Happily, nature has put the Hindoo Cush between Turkistan and both Afghanistan and the Punjaub, and Persia lies between the first named and Asia Minor. From the Bosphorus to the Indus is disputed ground that England must control if she is to permanently retain her Indian possessions. The Afghan difficulty is but one phase of the long struggle against Russian diplomacy, money and arms that Beaconsfield has committed his country to by the terms of the Berlin treaty. Whether wisely or not no man can now determine. Gladstone and his followers say

FROM time to time the Columbus En quirer is republishing the remarkable lyrics of Dr. Francis O. Ticknor, and quite recently our contemporary expressed the hope that they should be preserved in book form. We trust the suggestion may take tangible shape. No poet ever more truly represented a people in the fiery vigor and seness of his style than Dr. Ticknor, and his "Virginians of the Valley" will come to be recognized as one of the most perfect lyrics in the language. NATTY BANKS threatens to run for gress as an independent. Nat is a mighty bold man. During the war he used to stand still and smile while Stonewall Jackson captured his supply trains, and a per son who can do this successfully is entitled to the appellation of hero. This is why we think Nat ought to be returned to congress. He seems to be in the fighting mood now, i is true; but during the war he was as gentle as a sucking dove. It was shown that this enormous fraud was committed in the counties where the negro vote is heaviest. The railroads running through these counties rendered the transportation of the repeating voter easy, while the adjoining state of Alabama offered a fruitful yield to the foraging patriotism of your eccentric friends. It further appeared from the table copied into that letter from the comptroller general's report, that you owe your election to the negro vote. If we take from your aggregate vote of 13,269, your 3,900 colored votes, and contrast the take from your aggregate vote of 13,269, your 3,900 colored votes, and contrast the remainder with Dabney's 10,407, we can very readily understand why you fear to denounce Middlebrooks, who is trying to convince the negroes that you and your friends will put them in the jury box, and refuse to rebuke that other infamous negro, who slanders the virtue of your country women. You are afraid to do it. You must hang for favor to these negroe's skirts.

His election hangs upon his silence. I copy below part of an editorial in the Atlanta Republican of September 18th. Bear in mind that this is the leading radical paper in Georgia.

I beg my countrymen to remember 1868 and 1870, and then read it. Will the people of Barton representations of the people of the people

Will they recoilect how down our faces ran, the glad tears of patriotic joy on the day we broke his power and his rule? Will not the people of Floyd remember as they read how their young men were hurried away to prison because, forsooth, on a festive occasion they raised the confederate banner, and the satrap heard some fond words escape from loving lips for the old battle flag, furled at last without a spot, thank God, upon the virgin purity of its folds, save the smoke of the battle when our loved ones fell? Will not every freeman in the district remember how Felton hid himself away in his obscurity while the satraps ruled and by his minions with their bayonets around the polls, defeated our choice, defied our will, and gave our state to the hand of the alien thief and the native renegade.

Listen and learn why Felton dares not denounce the radical party:

"The republicans of the district are mostly committed to Felton; they know his record; they know how small has been the return made for their generous support which he has twice had; they believe that cond; they know how small has been the return made for their generous support which he has twice had; they believe that if again elected that his sense of honor, and gratitude and indignation at the abuse that has been heaped upon him by the violent opposition, will lead him to cut loose from them." "They, (the republicans), will vote for him in spite of his record, in order that they may split the party in the district, and break up its organization—an organization so compact and solid that so long as it remains unbroken will utterly prevent republican organization, the promulgation of republican organization, the promulgation of any republican work."

Read it again. The radicals will vote for Felton, relying upon his sense of honor to cut him loose from the democratic party. The radicals will vote for him to "split the party." The radicals will vote for him to break up its organization." The radicals to walk the decks 'nail the flag to the mast, and give the ship and the flag to the gold of the winds, the lightning and the gale."

My countrymen, let there be no discord between us. God forbid, my brother, that I should wound your bonest heart with bitter words. We love our country. Deep as the seas that circle her, high as the heavens that bind their eternal blue above, unfettered as the winds that sweep from the wave washed shore of Maine to the sunlit lagoons of Louisiana—from the snow peaks of Alaska to the snow blooms of the orange groves of Florida; deathless as liberty—is our love.

Alaska to the snow blooms of the orange groves of Florida; deathless as liberty—is our love.

Here is the temple; here is the flag; here is the altar. We have cast out the radical thief and money changer. Listen to them crying, "Vote for Felton! vote for Felton! split the party! split the party! and we shall enter and do our work and more." What shall we reply? Let it be to Felton, "Your victory would be our shame." Let it be to the enemy, "Away with your entering wedge. Rock-ribbed democracy never splits!"

Dr. Felton, you shall not escape. In my last letter I entreated you to unite with your opponent and secure a peaceable election. Passion and excitement runs high. You will do nothing to allay it. You do not want, then, a peaceable election. I begged with you to unite with your opponent to protect the polls. You are silent. We are left to the mercy of the repeating and the imported voter.

Central train, due here at 6:45 on Friday evening, to arrive, was due, as was yesterday reported, to the burning of some cars loaded with cotton, at a point on the road between Davisboro and Bartow. The down day freight trains, which leave Macon at 8:30 o'clock, left Friday morning on time, and ran along without accident or casualty until Davisboro, number 19, was reached. There were four trains running on after each other. In the last were five flat cars loaded with cotton. At reached. There were four trains running on after each other. In the last were five flat cars loaded with cotton. At Davisboro is a small stationary engine used for saving wood, pumping water, etc., and it is supposed a spark from it ignited the cotton. The fire was not discovered until the train had run about two miles from Davisboro and one car was then completely developed in flames. The fire spread with great rapidity, and before anything could be done it had extended to the other cars. The front flat car was detached and saved. The most strenuous efforts were made to save the other cotton but in vain. The point where the fire took place was in a swamp, and the bales were tossed off, but continued to burn. The result was that four cars and one hundred and fifty-six bales of cotton were totally consumed, nothing remaining to give evidence of the conflagration except the ties and the iron work and wheels of the cars. The second car from the cab was the one which first caught. The fire caught at twenty minutes past 2 o clock, and lasted until 6 in the evening. Griffin News: Maj. Mangham was showing a few of his friends yesterday a novel work of art, if it may be so called, which attracted great admiration. The specimen was a lady's hat, somewhat after the sunshade type, made by a Merivether lady cousin and sent over as a present to the Major's wife. The hat is made entirely of corn shucks, even to the trimmings, which is very elaborate. Around the crown is a delicate wreath of lovely artificial flower, worked entirely of shucks. In this wreath perches a pretty little shuck bird. Indeed the whole hat is very artistically and ingeniously made up, and is as beautiful as it is novel. Owing to a conscious ignorance of the hat world, it occurs to us that the description we have given of the hat is a triffe

That under said order defendant carried on said farm on said plantation for the years 1870–71–72, supporting said widow and maintaining and educating said mirors out of the proceeds thereof, and that at the close

ing. Mr. W. G. Raoul went down on the night passenger, reaching the seene of the disaster about 12 o'clock at night, and went to work at once. Under his skillful direction the track was cleared and repaired by 3 o'clock, and travel was resumed. The up day passenger train of Friday reached the city about 6 o'clock yesterday morning and the night passenger about 12 o'clock. The losses to the road in cotton, rolling stock, damage to track, etc., is estimated at $12,000. All the damage has been repaired and trains now run as usual. The road is doing an immense business.

Is there any established rule for weighing cotton, and what the penalty for false weighing. Is there any established rule for weighing cotton? Should the weigher balance his scales level, then weigh with the beam up say 10 or 15 degrees? If it should be weighed as balanced, then the farmers in this section are losers to the tune of 50 to 75 cents on every bale he sells. This was a bill filed by the complainants against the defendants to recover the possession of certain described lands on the allegations contained therein. On the trial of the case the jury, under the charge of the court, found a verdict in favor of the defendants. A motion was made for a new trial on the grounds contained therein, which was overruled, and the complainants excepted. The controlling question in this case is. The controlling question in this case is whether the complainants' right to recover the land sued for was barred by the statute the land sued for was barred by the statute of limitations, it being in the nature of an equitable action of ejectment.

It appears from the evidence in the record, that in the year 1853, Benjamin H. Gray, by his last will and testament, devised the land in dispute to his son, Patrick Gray, in trust for the sole and separate use of his two daughters, Ann and Jane Gray, for and during their natural lives, and after their death same manner as before directed. Ann Gray married Varner in 1855, in the seventeenth year of her age, and has now five living children. Jane married Walker, and died in 1867, having no children; her husband having died in 1864. In the year 1856, after the marriage of his two sisters—Ann and Jane—Patrick Gray, their trustee, petitioned the superior court of Houston county to be removed from his trusteeship, and that Walker and Varner be appointed trustees for their respective wives, in his place. The court granted the petition, and passed an order removing Patrick Gray as trustee, and appointing Varner and Walker, in his place and stead. Afterwards, in May, 1857, Varner and Walker petitioned the judge of the the superior court of the Macon circuit, exercising jurisdiction in chancery, for leave to sell the land in dispute, the said Ann and Jane joining in said petition. The chancellor, at chambers, after considering the application, granted leave to sell the land at public or private sale, and empowered said trustees to convey the same by deed and to receive what the land might sell for, and invest the same in other property upon like limitations, conditions and trusts as the said land

Mr. Snead, formerly of the Kimball hous has gone to take a position as clerk in the elegant new Brown house in Macon. He is the hotel man and a thorough gentleman.

A telegram has been received announcing the death, in Florida, of B. W. Jones. His remains will arrive in Atlanta Thursday morning. The funeral services will take place at the cemetery at 9 a. m. the same day.

Among the new comers to Atlanta is Mr.

make journalism his profession, and we hope he will make his home in Georgia. We are pleased to see Col. James Barnett, of Burke county, in the city. He is here in attendance on the state democratic committee, and is enthusiastic for organization and democracy. He brings cheering news of the late victory over the independents in Burke.

Mr. Marcellus Thornton has gone into the business of journalism in an enterprising way. He has a bureau of correspondence here, and already has several important papers taking his letters. As a news gatherer he has no superior, and he puts his items in a very attractive shape. In our notice of Mr. Chas. A. Capwell yes terday, we were in error in the statement that he was the general agent for the Estey organ company for the southern states. Mr. George P. Guilford is their agent south, Mr. Capwell being general supervisor of agencies throughout the United States.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

The fair is absolutely looming.
The grand jury is hard at work.
The soldiers' camp is frequently visited.
Hopes of frost this week are generally en-interest and is kept in sacred commemoration of atonement.

The feast of the atonement, as instituted by Moses, and as prercribed in the books of Leviticus, Numbers, Ezekiel and Isiah, in which paragraphs give illustrations of the different modes of sacrifices which the priest offered in behalf of himself and his people, is celebrated to this day by all the Hebrews throughout the world.

The sermons which are delivered by the Rabbis on this occasion teach the respective congregations to remember the poor, the needy, the widow, the orphan and the stranger, and give evidence that the charity practiced by the Hebrews in the days of yore still lives.

The services at the synagogue Monday were peculiarly interesting and were attended not only by members of the Jewish church, but also by a number of Christian friends.

We can but admire the devotion of the Jews to their church and the fidelity with which they observe all its festivals. In these respects they set a noble example which Christians might follow with profit to themselves and to the liveliness of their faith. Christian feasts are never observed with the strictness, or apparently, with the joy which always characterize the observance of Jewish festivals.

An Undeniable Truth.

Hopes of frost this week are generally enjoyed.

The prevalence of city hacks is quite noticeable.

The demand for bagging is growing greater every day.

The streets yesterday were crowded with wood wagons.

The city is very full. So were some citizens last night.

Top spinning is a great pastime with the boys of our city.

A good theatrical troupe in our city at present would do well.

Col. Pike's fine race horse Agamemnon, training on the race track at LaGrange, broke a blood vessel and died Saturday evening last.

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands, Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick head-nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures.

What is Portaline? This question is thus briefly and truth-fully answered. Portaline, or Tabler's Veg-etable Liver Powder, derives its name from etable Liver Powder, derives its name from the fact that it regulates those portals of the body through which the most dangerous diseases make their entrance into the human system. Simple roots and herbs, for which we are indebted to bountiful nature, have been scientifically combined, and presented as a cure to all suffering with Constipation, Billiousness Dyspersia and all diseases are Biliousness, Dyspepsia and all diseases aris-ing from torpid liver. GROCERS.

IT IS POOR POLICY more money on them. Instead of trying to find the cheape that can be bought, he should always select THE BEST in the market. select THE BEST in the market.

We know of no business anywhere, in the city or country, that would not sconer become permanently established, and in the long run pay better, by handling only fair and honest goods. To be sure, custom may for a while be allured by low prices into the purchase of inferior and adulterated articles; many even take up with short weight and other awindling; but time rights all these things, and nothing is more certain than that

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY MEN DO BUSINESS TO MAKE MONEY!

The surest way to accomplish this is to build up a permanent trade. This can not be successfully done if inferior goods are sold. It is only by keeping the best articles of their kind, even if they do not pay the largest immediate profit, that a pernanent business is built up. Keep the best soap, the best starch, the best spices, the best baking powder, and so on through the whole list. We have known a grocer to lose a customer whose trade was worth a hundred and fifty dollars would not supply a baking powder that was SEA FOAM

than any other one thing in the Grocery Line.

Illi UllUbil Hilli.

It is a first-class article, will do all we claim for it, and never falls to work WELL.

It is a credit to any merchant's stock, and is one of the few good things he can confidently recommend to every customer. It will sell itself after one trial, for its great merits are soon appreciated. And not only so, but one lady using it will tell others of the wonderful properties of Sea Foom and where it can be give SEA FOAM the credit, and won't use any other baking preparation. And it is not to be seemdered at, either, for SEA FOAM NEVER FAILS
